

Rutgers Science and Technology Summer Camp Registration Form

Sponsored by the Center for Information Management, Integration, and Connectivity (CIMIC) in partnership with OUCP, this summer camp program provides an opportunity for middle and high school students to explore science and technology disciplines based on challenging and real-world problem solving. Each summer the program examines a different topic that is designed to introduce students to technology-based problem-solving techniques through hands-on computer laboratory experience, lectures, field visits and group presentations.
